House of Representatives Votes to Defend Internal Combustion Engines

Wednesday, the U.S. House Of Representatives passed H.R. 4468, the Choice in Automobile Retail Sales Act of 2023 (CARS Act). The CARS Act is a bill designed to stop the Environmental Protection Agency from instituting emission standards that force manufacturers to produce more electric vehicles, thus limiting consumer choice.

The final vote on the bill was 221 to 197. 216 Republicans and 5 Democrats supported the bill, authored by Rep. Tim Walberg of Michigan, the co-chairman of the House Motorcycle Caucus.

After his introduction of the CARS Act, Representative Walberg said, "The Administration cannot continue to create regulations that limit consumer choice, hamper mobility, make vehicles more expensive for families, and cede America's auto leadership and jobs to China."

H.R. 4468 is the second bill in 2023, passed by the U.S. House, that pushes back against the attack on internal combustion engines. In September, the House passed H.R. 1435, the Preserving Choice in Vehicle Purchases Act. That bill limited individual states from making their own rules on emissions. Recently, California and like-minded states have been using a federal exemption to pass laws that would constrain the sale of internal combustion engines. H.R. 1435 would put a stop to that exemption.

The passage of the CARS Act shows that some members of Congress are concerned about the rush to eliminate the internal combustion engine. Thank you to all the members of the House who voted to protect consumer choice!

Both bills now await action by the U.S. Senate.

2024 Honda Gold Wing Tour Airbag DCT

As we know, the luxury
tourer was almost completely redesigned for the 2018 model year, dropping a pile of weight and getting a double wishbone front suspension as well as a reworked flat six-cylinder engine. The changes instantly broadened its appeal, and further improvements to suspension, electronics, audio and rider conveniences in subsequent years helped evolve the big Wing further. All of which is to say that for 2024, the venerable Wing is essentially unchanged, but you're still getting a feature-packed spec sheet, with a seven-speed DCT transmission, a 7-inch TFT screen, navigation, Apple Car-Play, Android Auto, an adjustable electric wind-screen, Smart Key operation, four riding modes, traction control, Hill Start, and more. The Gold Wing Tour variant adds a rear luggage box with integrated backrest and even more comfort features.

For 2024 the big Wing is returning in top-of-the-line Gold Wing Tour Airbag DCT form, with a $33,000 MSRP and will be available in Pearl White. The Gold Wing Tour in both DCT and manual forms is back as well, in Gray Metallic/Black or Pearl White options for $29,700 and $28,700, respectively. The base-model Gold Wing and Gold Wing DCT, however, do feature a new color for 2024; both are available in Matte Armored Green Metallic, with brown detailing on the engine cases. The base Wing rings in at $24,700, and the DCT version at $25,700.
